For three decades, Huckleberry Youth Programs has offered teens a continuum of sexual, reproductive, and primary medical services, along with health education workshops in middle and high schools, empowering youth to make more informed decisions about their health.

Our health clinics in San Francisco and Marin Counties offer comprehensive, age-appropriate, culturally-sensitive and responsive adolescent health services to youth (ages 12-25) at no-cost to remove financial barriers to accessing affordable, high-quality health care.
